Many organizations struggle with low levels of employee engagement and trust – with each other, with the company’s processes, and with leadership. Our Building Trust in the Workplace program will show you how to identify the reasons behind low trust levels, understand different types of behaviour in the workplace, and transform organizational culture to foster a more transparent and positive environment.

Culture Shifts that Work

Learn how to:

- Define, understand and measure different types of trust
- Understand why people misbehave and what to do about it
- Engage leadership in building trust
- Manage feedback and difficult conversations
- Build a strategy for a positive employee culture

Organizational Strategies that Improve Results

This program delivers:

- Tools to better measure trust in the workplace
- Greater knowledge of the impact of low trust levels on the bottom line
- Best practices for managing difficult conversations
- Planning tools to fix a ‘broken’ workplace

a) Identifying Your Company Culture
You’ll learn how to identify the different types of trust, the negative consequences of low trust, and how to measure trust levels across your organization. Through role-playing exercises, you’ll develop strategies for effective communications in a diverse employee environment, and practice managing difficult conversations for optimal results.

b) Fostering a Positive Culture
Use best practices and case studies to create your own custom strategy for improving your corporate culture. You’ll learn about self-managed teams and how to support positive behaviour and transparency, as well the vital role that communicating organizational vision, goals and expectations has in creating a trusting and motivating environment.

c) Making the Change
Honest communication is key to cultural change – but it must occur at all levels to be successful. You’ll learn how to help leadership teams acknowledge cultural issues and how to create effective communications strategies as a foundation for mutual trust and transparency.

Facilitators and Speakers

Paul Juniper

Paul Juniper (MA, Geography (York), CHRL, CPHR, SPHR, SHRM-SCP, Honourary Life Member, HRPA) became the sixth Director of the Queen’s University Industrial Relations Centre (Queen’s IRC) in 2006. Paul is a leading and respected figure in Canada’s HR community, with over 30 years of experience in human resources and association leadership.

Paul is particularly sought for his views on the future of the human resources profession. He speaks regularly at conferences on trends in human resources, and the ways in which individuals and their organizations can continue to raise the bar on HR. Paul developed and designed the Queen’s IRC Advanced HR Certificate to meet the increasingly complex professional development needs of HR practitioners. He teaches on Queen’s IRC’s Strategic Workforce Planning, Linking HR Strategy to Business Strategy, Building Trust in the Workplace and HR Metrics and Analytics programs. His research focuses on the state of the HR profession both in Canada and around the globe.

Paul is past member of the Advisory Board for the Banff Centre for Leadership and the Agnes Etherington Art Centre Advisory Board. Throughout his distinguished career, Paul has served as Vice-President of Human Resources for national and international companies, and also managed a Toronto-based consultancy, focusing on strategic planning and recruitment. Paul was an interim CEO of the Human Resources Professionals Association of Ontario (now known as HRPA), President of its Board, and was instrumental in the adoption of a degree requirement for certification in human resources. He is a former member of the Board of Directors of the Canadian Council of HR Associations, and sat on its Independent Board of Examiners for many years. In addition, he has taught in both college and university environments.

The roster of speakers may change. We will do our best to keep you informed of program changes.
