Coaching Skills gives participants the skills they need to nurture potential and engage individuals and organizations for improved performance and positive growth.

a) Coaching Fundamentals
Through a review of concepts and the evolution of coaching in the workplace, you’ll gain a deeper understanding of the coaching process. You’ll learn about individual and organizational coaching goals, and how they impact growth and performance.

b) Coaching in Action
In the workplace, coaching is used for finding a way forward: problem-solving, development, and performance.

- Portability: applies to individuals, teams and groups
- Orientation: works in every direction whether top down, bottom up and sideways
- Providers: delivered through various resources including managers, peers, direct reports, talent professionals and external experts
- Goal Setting: agenda can be driven by both coach or coachee
- Formats: can be used in formal and informal settings

c) Coaching Mastery
The coaching process is relatively easy to master, and basic proficiency can be achieved rapidly. Afterwards, it’s a matter of expanding on that foundation. You’ll learn how to develop strategies for growing your skills and raise the performance bar in your organization.

Facilitators and Guest Speakers

Françoise Morissette (Lead Facilitator)
Françoise Morissette, M.Ed., P.C.C., has been a facilitator at Queen’s IRC since 1994, and was made a Fellow in 2006. She played a key role in developing and implementing the Queen’s IRC’s Organizational Development curriculum and teaches on the OD Foundations and Coaching Skills programs. Françoise is a Certified Professional Coach, and she leverages coaching in her leadership practice, as well as training leaders and HR professionals on coaching skills.

Françoise is a major contributor to the OD field, with an emphasis on leadership and systems transformation, helping individuals, organizations and communities enhance their leadership capacity for performance and sustainability. In 2016, she certified as a LEADS facilitator. LEADS is a distributed leadership capability framework, originally developed in the Canadian health care system, rapidly spreading to other sectors and countries. Her work takes her within Canada and internationally.
